

SUSTAINABLE READING RECOMMENDATIONS

CAMPASINO A CAMPASINO

VOICES FROM LATIN AMERICA'S FARMER TO FARMER MOVEMENT FOR SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE

ERIC HOLT-GIMENEZ, PH.D

In Campesino a Campesino, Eric Holt-Gimenez takes an in-depth look into the incredibly fascinating sustainable agriculture movement of Central America. Campesino a Campesino, or Farmer to Farmer, is a movement driven by a group of Guatemalan farmers who have learned to utilize the hill county they have been driven to after being pushed off of the land they have occupied for generations due to increased beef demand caused by the American fast food industry. By using a system of terraced fields and organic fertilizers, these farmers have learned to stay afloat during these impossible times.